

Three jar labels and a simple tracker for talking about money with your child: some to spend, some to save and some to give.

How to use it

1. Print the labels (cardstock or full-sheet sticker paper works well). Your child colors in the big letters.
2. Cut on the dashed lines and tape a label to each of three jars or boxes.
3. Each time your child gets money, decide together how much goes in each jar, and write it on the tracker.

Good to know

- There's no right split. Some families use equal parts, others choose their own way.

A learning activity for families, not financial advice. You decide the amounts and the rules. Help with scissors and with any job that needs a grown-up.

Print at 100% (Actual size) on US Letter or A4. Black and white printing works well.

More printables at etsy.com/shop/PorchlightLedger

Money Jar Labels

Color, cut and tape to your jars

 Cut on the dashed lines. Ask a grown-up to help.

SPEND

Money for small things I want now

This jar belongs to: _____

SAVE

Money for a bigger goal later

This jar belongs to: _____

GIVE

Money to share or help others

This jar belongs to: _____

My Jar Tracker

How much goes in each jar?

Name: _____

Date	Spend	Save	Give
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$
	$	$	$

Totals: Spend $ _____ Save $ _____ Give $ _____